WIDENING HORIZONS

When we think of a horizon, we imagine a distant line of trees or mountains. We think of it as being as far as we can see, but to us at Martin this can be projected even further. It may go just down the street or wind to infinity. We each have our own horizon, which is one of our ability, hopes and desires for the future. Our lives at Martin form the starting point to an ever-broadening future filled with the things for which we have worked.

Our horizons are widening, but before we go toward them, we should pause and reflect on the past two years and what they have meant to us.

Everyone gains experiences which contribute to a well-rounded life and surely some of these are acquired at Martin. Our social, academic, and religious backgrounds that we have improved here are essential to sufficiently broaden our total perspective on life and the meanings of our relations with others.

In the following pages, we hope to have preserved a portion of the contributing factors to our personal horizons and to recognize those who have so unselfishly aided us in the process of reaching our goals.

THE MARTIN CAMPUS

The President's Home

Buildings that at first seem formidable soon become a part of our lives at Martin. Contained within these walls and corridors are hopes and aspirations for the future, reminiscences of home, and the foundations for academic excellence.

Presently under construction is a new girls' dormitory, which will house many anxiously waiting students.

KITCHEN STAFF

We would like to express our sincere appreciation for the excellent services performed by the members of the kitchen staff. Without them, life at Martin would surely be amiss and without their courtesy our meals would not be as enjoyable as they are.

CUSTODIANS

James Smith

We owe a great debt of gratitude to our custodians, without whom we could not function as a college. They are ever-present to replace light bulbs, repair broken windows, and to cope with practically any emergency which may occur.

A special thanks goes to James Smith, who in addition to heading the custodial services, also drives the Martin College bus on many long and tiring trips.

CAMPUS LIFE

Get it clean, children!

Is this the latest in transportation?

WELCOME

O' FROSH

WHOA, you freshmen!

Ugh! What a party!

Oh, to be young again.

"Carry these books to my class!" "Sing the Alma Mater!" "Clean up my room!" are typical commands heard by all freshmen on the one day designated for the mighty sophomores to be supreme rulers and for the lowly freshmen to be obedient servants. This red-letter day is known as Kiddie Day.

Freshmen slaves, dressed in outlandish costumes, perform their tasks well, for they know that "justice" rules at Kangaroo Court. Freshmen wear a bright red "F" on their foreheads designating their lowly status. Initiation is literally a red-letter day for Martin freshmen, one neither they nor the sophomores will soon forget.

Proudly presenting... the rulers of Kiddieland.

"Justice" rules!

THIS ... AND THAT

We can blame them . . . . . for this!

In the library all is quiet . . . . . but it's different in the dorm!

Where's everybody going? . . . . . to study, of course!

LINES, LUCK, AND LUNCH

Tests by day and parties by night are the order for Orientation Week. Then comes the agonizing experience that no student can ever forget — Registration Day!! After a hectic day of waiting in lines comes an afternoon of games and another line at the annual picnic.

Grab your partner, and down you go!

"I've waited...and waited...and waited!"

Are you sure it's enough for an army?

"Just practicing for the Kiddie Party!"

GIRLS, GIRLS, GIRLS

"Another wasp wouldn't dare light in here!"

"But girls, I've already had a shower!!"

"Sh! Did I hear Mrs. Woodard?"

It's just music to study by!

Late to bed and early to rise makes one...sleepy!!

Sounds of radiators knocking, records playing, and girls laughing — these are all part of life in the girls' dorm. Girls at both Tennessee Hall and the Faculty House hold nightly meetings to discuss all the latest news. Here they plot a cold trip to the shower for the girls who have recently begun to go steady. Around eleven o'clock every night the smell of popcorn is prevalent as girls fortify themselves before settling down to study or sleep. All too soon that awful alarm clock will ring, for morning comes early at Martin.

Honest, Mrs. Woodard, my watch stopped!

"I thought I had two of these."

There must be an easier way!

"Never a dull moment!" — a good description of life in any of the boys' dorms. This year the boys are scattered in the Arnold House and Walker House, as well as in the main dorm. All have one thing in common: various excuses for not studying. Television, card games, bull sessions, and practical jokes take up nearly all leisure time. Washing, ironing, and other chores must be attended to occasionally. The little time remaining is usually spent in sleep. After all, after such a busy life, a fellow needs his rest.

"You've primped long enough! Our turn."

There's NOTHING like a refreshing shower!

"Maybe I could take in washing."

WORKING

Now it's time for the FIVE stooges!

Must be nice to be such a sound sleeper!

What a hard life he leads!!

I thought Cleopatra looked like that.

WE STUDY. . .

We do study sometimes.

Now what did I do with that notecard?

. . .WE DON'T!

"Burning the midnight oil" is all too familiar to most Martin students, especially near final exam time. Besides exams and tests, term papers, themes, book reports and other duties are necessary in the endless search for knowledge.

Academic knowledge is not the only goal of a quality education. Equally important is social knowledge, the ability to get along with fellow students. Most Martin students rank high in this.

We need time during a busy day to relax and just "do nothin'!" A coke or a game of cards at the student union gives us the pause that refreshes.

Whee! Exams are over!

Anyone for a friendly game of checkers?

Have you heard the latest?

"Go, Indians, go!"

MARTIN SPIRIT

"Win, Indians, WIN!"

"Fight, Indians, fight!"

We enjoy another night of singing at the Hewitt Home.

*"Santa, where is your sleigh parked?"
A moment of quiet in a busy day.*

"This is nice, but I really wanted a gun!"

"What do you mean you never eat breakfast?"

"This is why I took college algebra!"

"Wonder if I can carry all this back to the dorm?"

Mr. Mitchell snaps another one for the annual.

"Oh, my poor aching feet!"

"I see you!"

"Where's my change?"

"Why didn't we hire a moving van?"

Fun and seriousness both lead to widening horizons, as people with different outlooks face similar situations here. Life at Martin contains moments of fun and seriousness in just the right proportion for a well-balanced life.

"But I don't want to take P. E. at eight o'clock."

"We'll miss the pride, too!"

"Ho-hum!!"

Court intrigue, a hint of scandal, sparkling music and high comedy are mixed together for an evening of fun and foolishness in THE MERRY WIDOW, Franz Lehar's immortal musical as performed by the National Opera Company.

CULTURAL LIFE

Refreshing artistry and a well selected program performed by the Alabama String Quartet gave us an evening of excellent music.

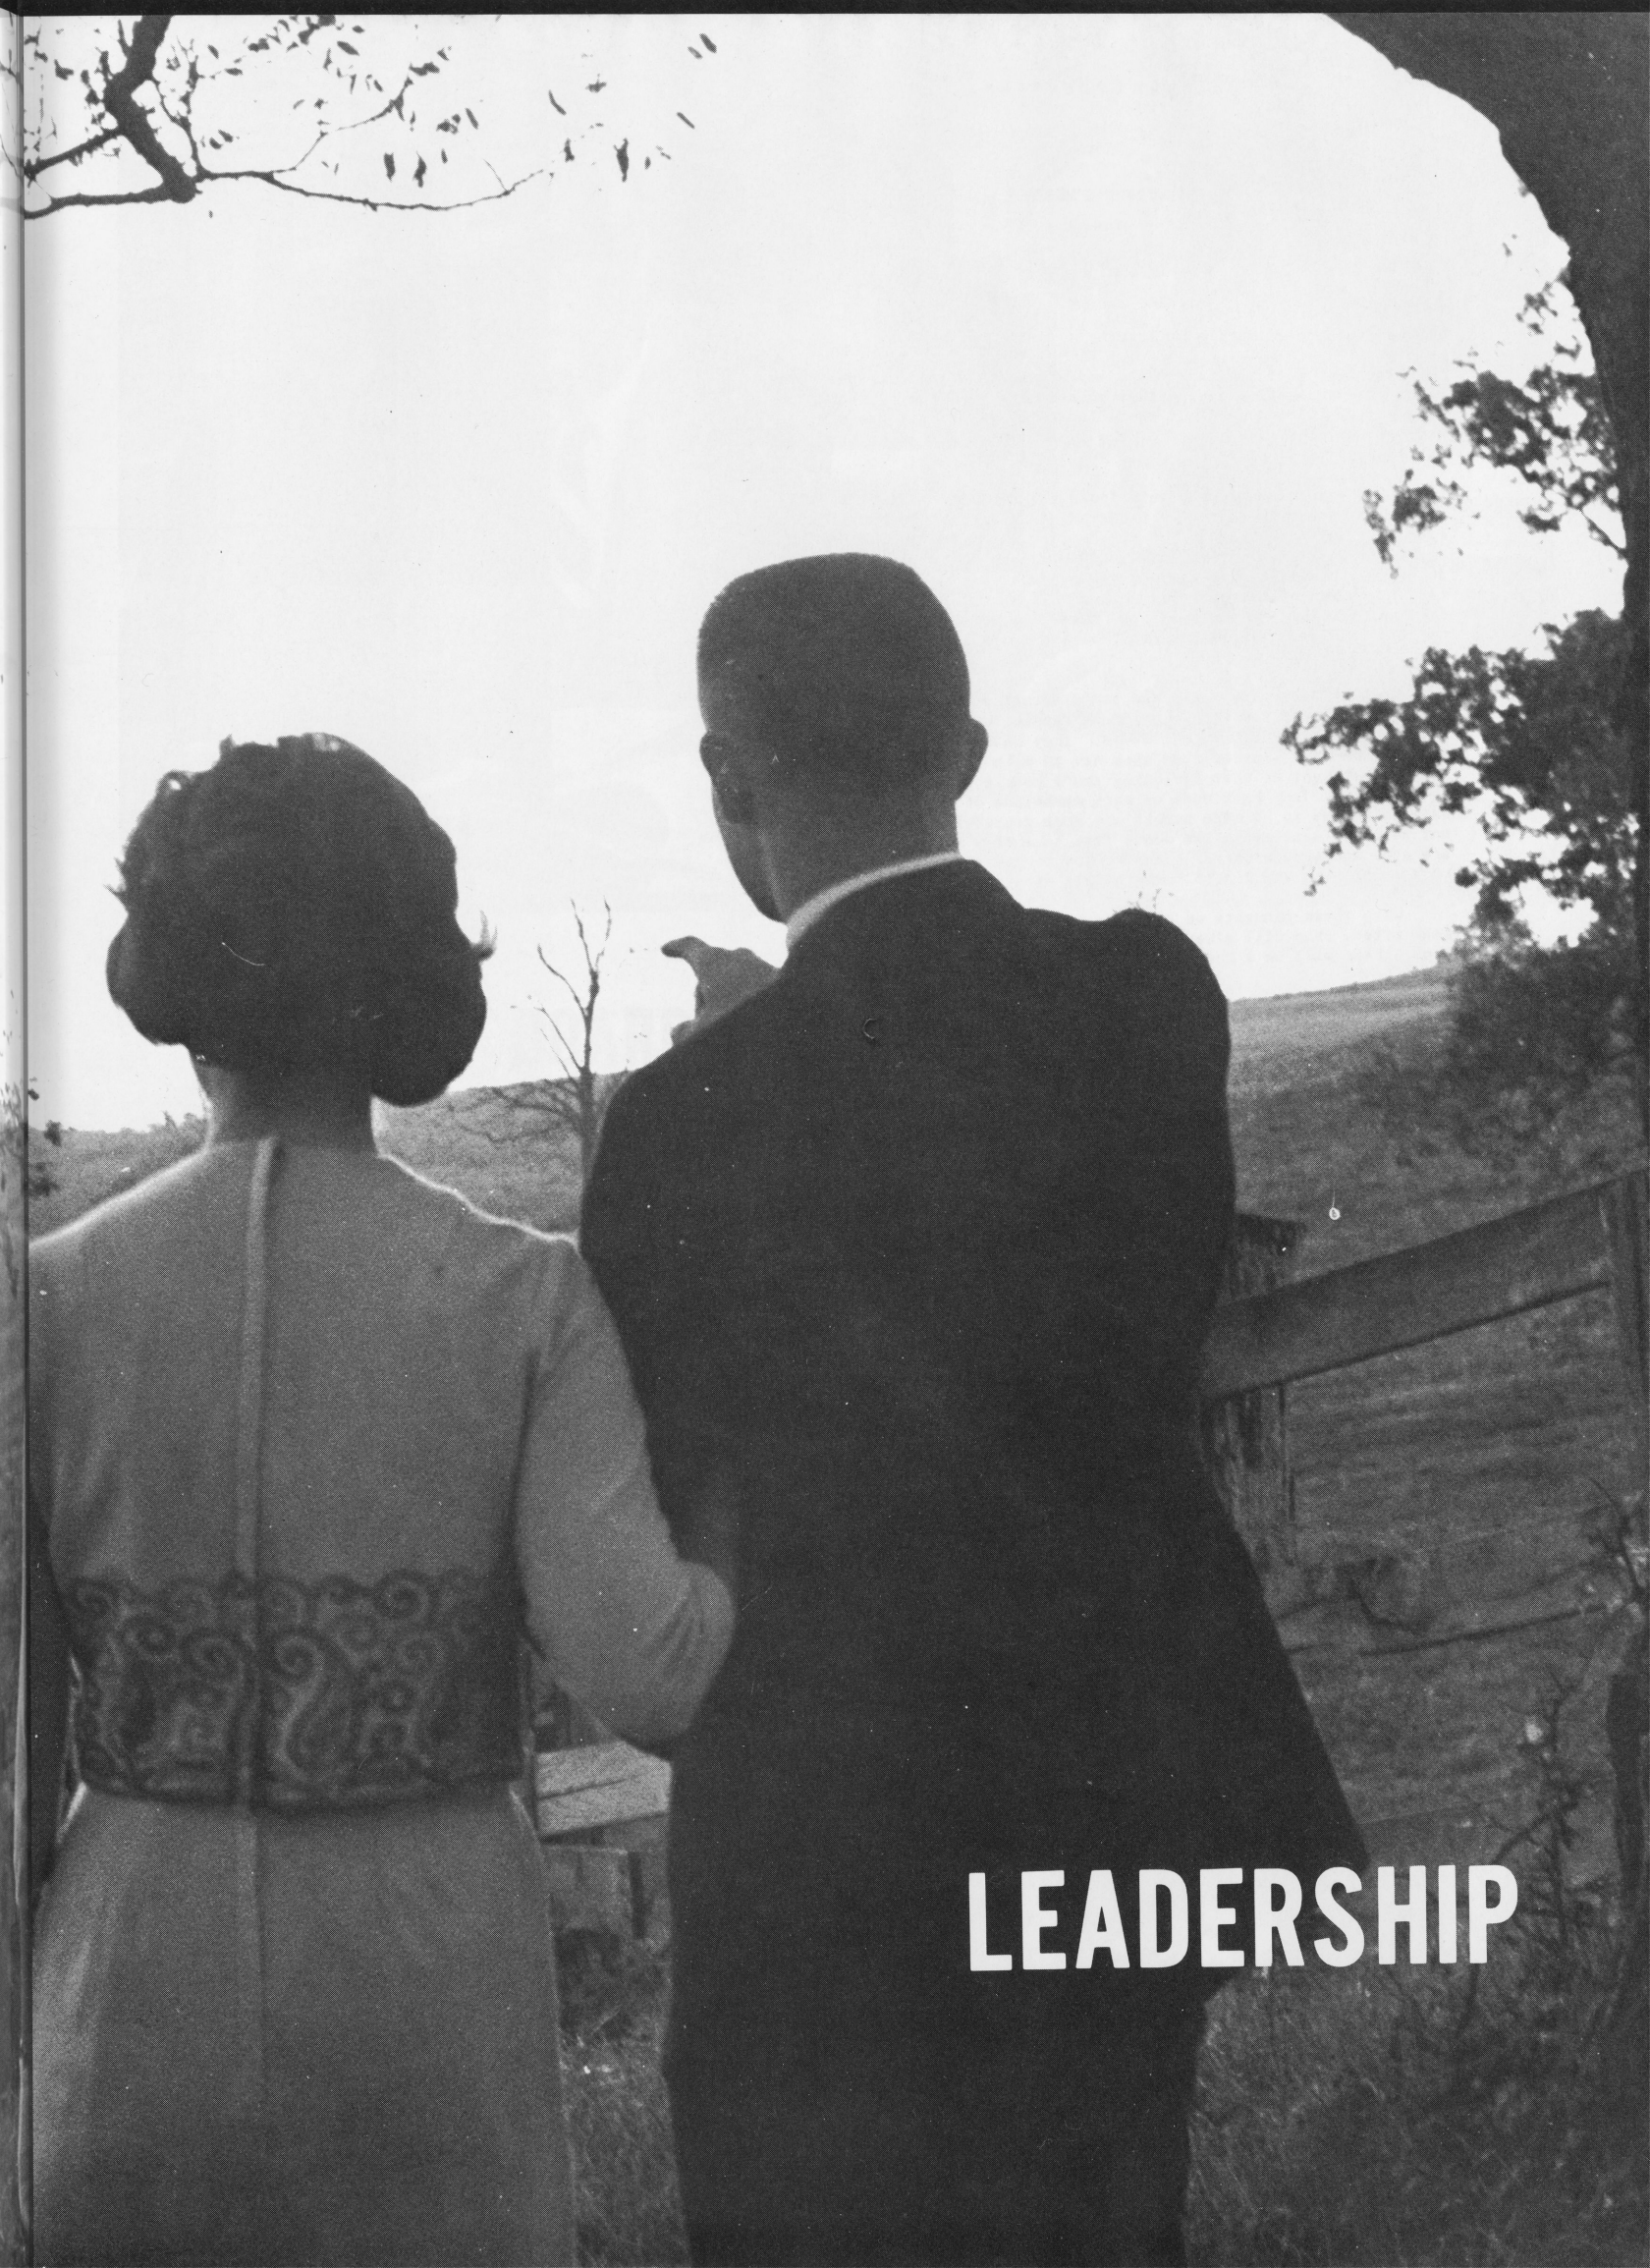

Now in their sixth season of touring, the Rondoliers Male Trio offers a unique and varied program of art song operatic selections, show tunes, folk songs, and Negro spirituals.

OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

To the Students of Martin College:

You hear much talk about the imprint which a great teacher makes upon successive generations of students. Of course, this is a well-known and glorious fact, for which we are all grateful. However, when have you heard of the impact which a student body makes upon the faculty.

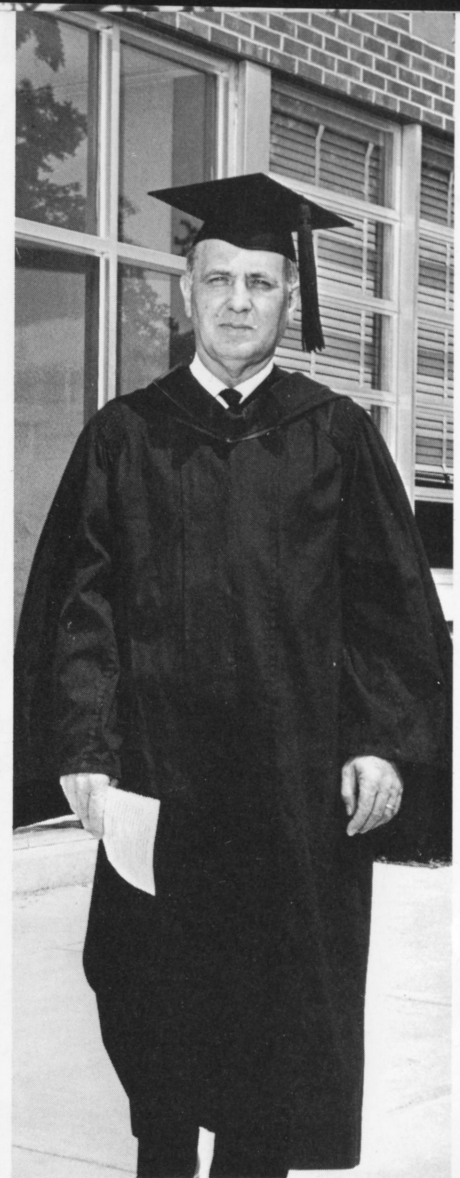

Each year we anxiously anticipate the kind of students we will have. We have many objective facts, such as grades, percentiles, interests and activities. But these do not tell the full story. There are still many intangibles. This causes the administration to be in a state of suspense. And yet, each year the sophomores rise to superb places of leadership and it is not long until the freshmen get the "Martin Spirit". Then, the administration begins to relax and say: "It look's as if we are going to have another great year."

When the year has ended and the diplomas signed and the Martinaire's autographed, we begin to reflect upon what imprint the students have left on our lives. They have taught us many things. We have learned from them not to make judgments too quickly. They have taught us that basically young people are good and want to do right. They have made us more conscious of influence. They have helped us to be more humble and more grateful. If it would not seem too sentimental we would like to shed a tear because they are gone and pray a prayer thanking God for the glorious privilege of working with the finest young people of his creation.

With these thoughts we bid some of you a warm farwell. Come back often. You will always be welcome. To the freshmen, hurry back; there will be a cheery welcome waiting for you.

Affectionately yours,

W. C. Westenberger

CHORUS

"Where's my robe?"

Long rehearsals, long bus trips, wonderful food, meeting old friends, making new friends — all contribute to the memory of membership in the Martin College Chorus. This organization is one of the most important to Martin's public relations. During the season, the chorus averages twenty-five appearances in various churches of Middle Tennessee Conference as well as augmenting the the College worship program in the weekly Chapel services. In addition to religious presentations, the chorus also presents lighter music in high schools and participates in the Annual Fine Arts Festival.

Men students interested in religious work are eligible for membership in the Ministerial Association. This organization is interdenominational and promotes co-operation among the denominations. Members are given the opportunity to learn and discuss the various aspects of the ministry, along with applying and evaluating classroom theory in the service of the church.

A similar organization for women students, the Christian Service Club, exists for the purpose of acquainting these students who are considering full-time church vocations, the needs and responsibilities connected with such work.

STUDENT NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Opportunities for developing growth and professional competence exist for members of SNEA. The club provides experience which interests capable students in teaching as a career and encourages the careful selection and guidance of those admitted to teacher education programs.

FEATURES

MAY DAY QUEEN

Shirley Rieben

Shirley Rieben, a beautiful, brown-eyed brunette, is the May Day Queen for 1964. A bountiful supply of energy is displayed by this cheerleader captain. President of the Dramatics Club, Shirley is known for her work in plays and the arts. An elementary education major, capable of winning anyone's support, Shirley speaks in a graceful manner and tone. She was the Duchess in the May Day Court her Freshman year, and has been a campus personality for two years. Her abilities and talents helped her achieve a place in the Delta Psi Omega, and the Annual Staff.

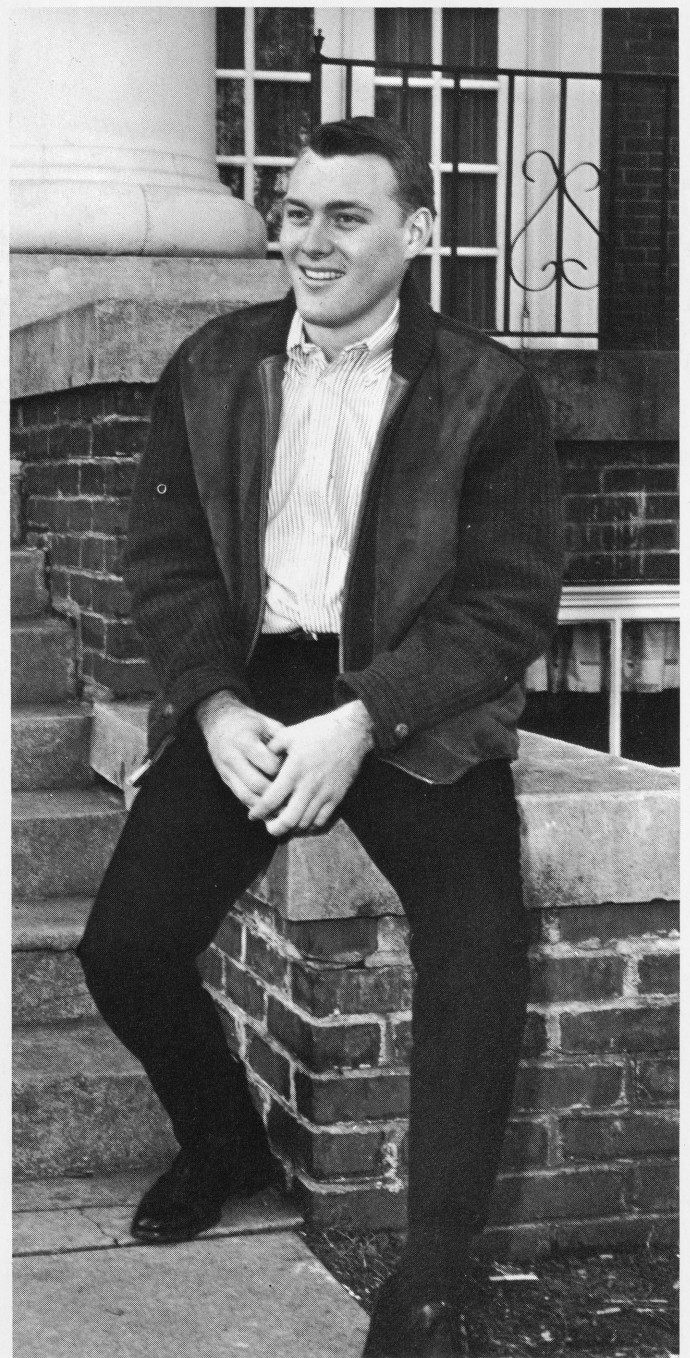

Vibrant and expressive in both her actions and words, she has proven herself to be a success in both academic and sports activities and an asset to the Martin campus.

During the past two years, Shirley has been a valuable member of the chorus and has actively participated in SCA.

MAY DAY KING

Jess Campbell

May Day King, Jess Campbell, has one of the most winning personalities on campus. Holding the position as president of the Student Council, his excellent leadership has been shown both in clubs and academically. Jess is a pre-optometry major from Lawrenceburg, Tennessee.

He represented the Freshman Class as May Day Duke and held the office of Secretary of his class his freshman year. Excellent is a word used to describe Jess by many students at Martin who have known his outstanding abilities and willingness to help others.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

In 1963-64 the Martin Indians will be seeking their third straight Dixie Conference Championship. Coach Earle has four returning lettermen plus two transfers that will lend seasoning to the outstanding frosh that he has recruited.

Topping last year's record will be quite a feat but the potential is there. Jim Crayne, Larry Cunningham, Gene Wilkerson, and Gary Martin are all ready for another fine season with the Indians. Larry Funderburk and James Christian are the transfers due to see action.

The 1963 Martin Indians

This past year was the greatest year in the history of the college for the basketball team. Led by All-Conference guards Bobby Taylor and Gary Martin and All-Conference forward Jerry Hibdon, the Indians rolled up their second consecutive Dixie Conference Championship. The greedy Indians won the Southern Junior College Invitational Tournament, took third place in the Region 7 NJCAA Tournament, and received the Region 7 Sportsmanship Trophy.

In athletics, each year serves as a gauge for the following year. Trying to do better than last year's team is one of the goals of an athlete. He strives to excel and to be the best player he can. Some players excel more than others, but a team is composed of all the players not just the best player. Behind each most valuable player are other players just as important.

VARSITY

Participating in its first year of intercollegiate golf, Martin held its own in the league last season. Although they did not have a winning season, these golfers showed much promise for the coming season.

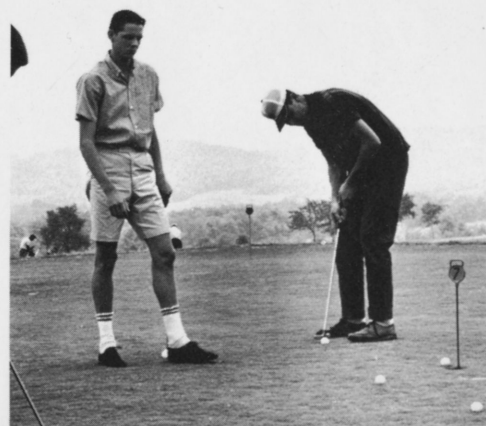

Dwight Herd and Jim McLaughlin return from last year's team to lend experience to the unseasoned frosh. Coach Smith again this year will guide the team and teach the golf class. Golf is becoming a popular spring activity on the campus.

VARSITY

This year Martin College seeks to recapture the Dixie Conference title which it lost last year. Bob Ford and Jerry Turner are the only returning lettermen, but Coach Smith thinks the outlook is much brighter than last year.

He has a fine group of freshmen ready to get a taste of varsity competition. With a nucleus of Ford and Turner, the team will be able to compete on an equal basis with any team in the conference.

"Wait till next year" is the cry of the baseball team concerning the past season. Although the team's showing this past season was not very bright, the outlook for this season is the brightest in the school's history. Eight of the nine starters from last year's team return, bringing smiles to the faces of Martin baseball fans.
